

BOOTH AND MODJESKA QUARREL.

The Actress Wants to Be Released from Her Present Engagement.

New York, Nov. 13.—There is a rumor abroad that Mme. Helena Modjeska will sever her connection with Mr. Edwin Booth's dramatic company shortly, and that she will file an application in court tomorrow, asking for an accounting and a release from the contract which binds her to the Booth-Barrett organization. The reasons given are that Mme. Modjeska refuses to appear any longer with Booth, owing to what she calls his "ungentlemanly and unchivalrous" conduct toward her. The papers in the case are now being prepared in a lawyer's office in the Vanderbilt building.

If Mme. Modjeska succeeds in having her contract annulled, Mr. Barrett will be the loser. He pays Mme. Modjeska a salary of $1,500 a week, and with two months of the year the enormous expense the company has not been able to make any money as yet, but Barrett expected to reimburse himself by sending the two great stars to California, where he has obtained large percentages from the theatre managers on account of the joint appearance of Booth and Modjeska. Barrett is said to have paid $25,000 for Modjeska's former release from her managers.

Mme. Modjeska and the Booth-Barrett management have not been on good terms from the start. Count Bozenta, Modjeska's husband, said two months ago that neither he nor his wife ever spoke to "the arrogant little fellow," meaning Barrett. The lawyers who are conducting the case for Mme. Modjeska are said to have in their possession the voluminous correspondence which passed between the actress and Booth. Mme. Modjeska is alleged to have repeatedly urged Booth to release her from the contract, and their relations unbearable after his conduct towards her.

Mme. Modjeska has been singularly free from scandalous reports during her long and prominent career on the stage. Some people say it is a matter of professional pique with Modjeska, but there are hints of something far more serious, as is shown by the correspondence. Booth, interviewed at the Player's Club last evening, was asked if there was any difference between Modjeska and himself.

"If there is, I do not see that it concerns me," he replied.

"Have you at any time, Mr. Booth, done anything that could have led Madame Modjeska or Count Bozenta to think you imagined that Madame Modjeska would favor you more than any woman that for the time being was your partner in business?"

Mr. Booth then drummed his fingers on the arm of his chair, reached over to an open cigar box, took a cigar and lighted it deliberately and said, "Madame Modjeska first came to my house to see my daughter before Mrs. Booth's death. I met her then. Since our business arrangements, I have met her on the stage only."

Mr. Booth was then asked plainly if he had ever conducted himself in such a way as to give offence to Modjeska.

"My dear sir," Mr. Booth replied, knocking the ashes from his cigar, "Madame Modjeska and I are old enough to have grandchildren. My love-making days off the stage are over."

HELENA, Oct. 7, 1887.

I was suffering from an unusually bad cough, my lungs were sore and congested, and I consulted one of the best physicians in Helena, whose prescriptions failed to relieve me, so became alarmed, and suggested by a friend purchased a bottle of Dr. Ayer's English Remedy for coughs, and after taking it according to directions was completely cured. I therefore cheerfully recommend it.
